POWER OF ATTORNEY INFORMATION FORM

DATE: _____

[NOTE: If married, each spouse should complete a separate Information Form.]

A "durable power of attorney" (DPOA) is a document in which you appoint someone you trust (your "Agent" or "Attorney in Fact") to carry on your personal business and financial affairs if you become disabled and unable to do so for yourself. (A last will and testament has no effect until your death and does not empower your executor to act for you while you are living.) By signing a DPOA, you do not give up the right to make all such decisions for yourself so long as you are mentally capable to do so. In fact, you may revoke the DPOA at any time.

Agent's Powers:

In order to make sure that others will honor the actions your Agent may take on your behalf, you should make the DPOA as specific as possible about such powers. Also, it may be wise to give your Agent the power to make gifts or transfers of your assets for such purposes as reducing your estate to avoid taxes or qualifying you for Medicaid or other public assistance programs to pay costs of long-term health care. We want the DPOA to reflect your wishes about these and other powers.
